

TEACHER'S GUIDE

“Books are a bridge to new worlds and better versions of ourselves.”

Topic:

The use of literary circles to foster the development of reading habits in A2 EFL students.

Proposal:

Design an interactive web-based platform that allows students to learn about, participate in, and engage with literary circles through interactive activities and reading reviews to foster reading habits in A2.1 EFL learners.

Introduction

- This Teacher's Guide supports the interactive platform designed to implement “Literary Circles” in A2.1-level English classes.

- Its goal is to provide teachers with practical guidance on integrating collaborative reading activities, fostering reading habits, and promoting active student participation.

- The guide outlines the teacher's role as a facilitator, describes the steps for implementation, and offers recommendations for creating a motivating, anxiety-free environment in which students can enjoy reading and construct meaning together.

JUSTIFICATION

- ♥ This Teacher's Guide provides pedagogical guidance that helps teachers effectively integrate the platform's resources to implement Literary Circles in A2.1 EFL classrooms, serving as a complementary resource for the teaching and learning process.
- ♥ Grounded in Krashen's Affective Filter Hypothesis, the platform promotes motivation, confidence, and low anxiety by fostering collaborative reading, active participation, and meaningful interaction, creating a positive environment for engaging with literary texts.
- ♥ This guide explains the platform's pedagogical purpose, the teacher's role, and offers practical recommendations for organizing Literary Circles. It supports teachers throughout the instructional process, fostering reading habits and enhancing English learning through an engaging, technology-enhanced experience.

ROLE OF THE TEACHER

- 1 Introduce the platform: explain its purpose, demonstrate how to navigate it, and guide the formation of groups.
- 2 Assign and supervise roles: ensure that each student fulfills their responsibilities and that roles rotate across different sessions.
- 3 Foster respectful collaboration: promote active listening, respect for others' opinions, and the joint construction of meaning.
- 4 Monitor participation: observe group performance, provide support when necessary, and encourage shy students.
- 5 Guide reflection: At the end of each session, guide students in writing their reading reviews, highlighting achievements and areas for improvement.

In this approach, the teacher becomes a learning companion, ensuring that the reading experience is meaningful, motivating, and anxiety-free.

PURPOSE OF THE WEBSITE

The Literary Circles interactive platform aims to strengthen reading habits among A2.1-level English learners through a collaborative and motivating digital environment. Its main objectives are:

PURPOSE	DESCRIPTION
 To foster reading habits	To provide access to age-appropriate texts and activities that encourage regular reading as part of the academic routine.
 To promote collaborative learning	To facilitate the exchange of ideas and perspectives in groups, where each student contributes from a specific role.
 Increase motivation	Use interactive tools such as the random role wheel, support templates, and the reading reviews section to make the experience dynamic and engaging.
 Develop autonomy	Allow students to take on responsibilities in different roles, learn to organize themselves, and reflect on their own reading process.
 Support the teacher	Serve as a supplementary resource that facilitates the organization of sessions, the monitoring of participation, and the assessment of progress.

A collaborative space to read, share, reflect, and grow together.

EVALUATION

Students' performance throughout the implementation of the Literary Circles will be assessed using a single comprehensive rubric. This rubric integrates the assessment criteria for both the development of Literary Circle roles and the students' reading reviews, providing a holistic evaluation of their participation and learning process.

Teachers are encouraged to share the rubric with students before each Literary Circle session. By making the assessment criteria and performance expectations explicit, students can better understand their responsibilities, monitor their own progress, and continuously improve their participation and performance throughout the activities.

The complete assessment rubric is included at the end of this Teacher's Guide for easy reference and implementation.

LITCIRCLE WEBSITE

Teacher's Guide

LITCIRCLE is designed to guide students through collaborative Literary Circle sessions. During each session, students work in groups of six members, where every participant is assigned a different role through the website's random role-selection wheel. After completing the reading and discussion activities, students share their ideas with their group and submit a short reading review on the platform to reflect on their reading experience.

STEPS FOR IMPLEMENTING THE WEBSITE

“Strong circles, strong readers!!”

Step 1.

Introduce the Website

- Explore the website and learn how it supports Literary Circles.

Step 2.

Download and Print the Role Templates

- Download the six role templates, print them, and bring all to class.

Step 3.

Form Literary Circle Groups

- Form groups of six. Each student has a role that will rotate.

Step 4.

Assign Roles Using the Role Wheel

- Enter names in the Role Wheel and get roles randomly.

Step 5.

Read the Assigned Literary Text and Complete the Role

- Read individually and complete your role using evidence from the text.

Step 6.

Conduct the Literary Circle Discussion

- Share ideas, discuss the reading, and present your role. Teacher facilitates.

Step 7.

Create and Share a Reading Review

- Create a video review and upload it to the website. The teacher assesses with a rubric and provides feedback.

SUMMARY

OF THE ROLES

“ Every activity builds better readers. ”

Activity	Description
 1. The Facilitator:	Guides the discussion by preparing questions, encouraging participation, and helping group members share their ideas.
 2. The Investigator:	Identifies and summarizes the main events, characters, and important details from the reading.
 3. The Illustrator:	Creates a visual representation of an important event, scene, or idea from the reading and explains its connection to the story.
 4. The Vocabulary Inspector:	Finds key or unfamiliar words in the text, defines them, and explains their meaning in context.
 5. The Connector:	Makes meaningful connections between the reading and their own experiences, other texts, or the real world.
 6. The Discussion Director:	Prepares open-ended questions that promote discussion, reflection, and the exchange of different viewpoints.
 7. Reading Review:	Reflects on the text by creating a reading review, such as a short video review, to share opinions and recommendations.

ACTIVITY DESCRIPTIONS

Suggested timing for activities

Each Literary Circle session is designed to be completed within two consecutive class periods (80 minutes, divided into two class hours of 40 minutes each). During this time, students are expected to complete their assigned Literary Circle roles and actively participate in the group discussion. However, if additional time is needed, teachers may allow students to finish their role templates at home.

The Reading Review is an individual activity that may also be assigned as homework. Students should record a video review of approximately 3 minutes, with a maximum duration of 5 minutes, in which they summarize the literary text, express their personal opinions, and recommend the book to the intended audience. This flexibility allows students to complete the activities thoughtfully while maintaining the collaborative nature of the Literary Circle sessions.

Great readers think, share, and grow!
